DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vujkovic-Cvijin (6,724,789) hereinafter '789, and further in view of Koch et al. (6,359,915) hereinafter '915.

Figures 10 and 10A of '789 discloses a system comprising:

An external cavity diode laser (ECDL) [22];

A temperature controlled sled [154] to tune the laser;

An etalon [78] to tune the ECDL;

A multiple bandwidth mode controller [174] comprising a high bandwidth mode [coarse adjustment] and a lower bandwidth mode [stabilizing loop]. The fine adjustment [stabilizing loop] is based on the error signal received from the photodetectors [64, 80].

'789 does not disclose:

said controller to initially drive said etalon in said high bandwidth mode for a coarse tuning adjustment and switch to said lower bandwidth mode to drive said temperature controlled sled for fine tuning adjustment when an error signal associated with a target frequency is within a threshold range.

However, '915 discloses a tunable laser that is mode locked by coarse tuning the filter (for example a Bragg region) first and then fine tuned by adjusting the temperature of the laser. (2/54-63)

Art Unit: 2828

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teachings of '915 into the device of '789 by driving the wavelength controller in the coarse mode (by adjusting the etalon) and fine tuning (by controlling the temperature) for at least the purpose of modelocking the laser to a desired wavelength.

Claims 8 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over '789 and '915 as applied to claims 1 and 15 above, and further in view of Kuo et al (6,222,861) hereinafter '861.

'789 and '915 disclose a tunable laser as described above but do not disclose that coarse tuning is accomplished with an open loop controller.

However, '861 discloses using a "feed-forward" loop for coarse tuning and a feedback loop for fine tuning. (2/41-46)

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teachings of '861 into the device of '789 and '915 by driving the wavelength controller in the coarse mode in an open loop for at least the purpose of quickly setting the laser close to a desired wavelength.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
